Lycoming College Builds a Strong Foundation

THEN...

The origins of Lycoming College date back to 1812 with the founding of the "Williamsport Academy for the Education of Youth in the English and other Languages, in the Useful Arts, Science and Literature." This was the name under which the school was incorporated — the lone school serving a lumber port in a thriving community of approximately 350 people. Attendance was by subscription, although a state grant the founders procured came with the condition that a number of poor children, not to exceed five, be taught free of charge, thus starting a 188-year tradition of financial aid. The institution also educated both genders from its inception.

The final brick of Lycoming College's new Recreation Center is placed.

Pictured above is a 1900s-era photograph of the venerable landmark "Old Main" on the campus of Dickinson Seminary, now Lycoming College. Unfortunately, "Old Main" fell to the wrecker's ball in the late 1960s making way for progress.

NOW...

Historic Clarke Chapel is the heart of fine music on the Lycoming College Campus and home of the College Choir, the largest of three choral groups at Lycoming. It is the college's "full choir" and numbers over 100 students.

With the fitness and weight rooms completed, the new Recreation Center officially opened to all members of the Lycoming College community in April 2004. Above, the finishing touches are being put on the exterior of the building.

Asbury Hall, above, Wesley Hall, left, are two of the most picturesque edifices on the Lycoming College campus. Built in 1962, Asbury Residence Hall houses 145 first-year students in a co-educational environment. Asbury is named for Bishop Francis Asbury, the father of the United Methodist Church in America. He was a preacher serving the Susquehanna region in 1812, the year Lycoming College was founded.

Let the festivities begin...

Jello wrestling participants formed teams of two and battled against each other in a large sloppy pool of cherry Jello.

The Lycoming Cheerleaders added some spirit to the night and got the crowd pumped for the upcoming football game.

The festivities for Homecoming, held throughout the week, included a volleyball game on the Quad, a postponed Powder Puff game, Hall Crawl, a pizza eating contest, pep rally, the Mr. and Mrs. Lyco contest, the crowning of the Homecoming Prince and Princess and Jello wrestling. The week ended with Saturday's football game in which the Warriors were defeated by Delaware Valley, 27-38.

The CAB Fall Formal took place from 9 p.m.- 12 a.m. on November 14, at the Genetti Hotel in downtown Williamsport. Many students from the freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior classes came out for the event and danced the night away. Music was supplied by DJ George Purcell, and food and non-alcoholic beverages were provided for free.

HALLOWEEN FESTIVITIES

The PSEA and Big Brothers/Big Sisters organized a large trick-or-treating event on the Lycoming College Campus from 1 to 3 p.m. on October 26, 2003. Children from the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization and children of faculty and staff wandered the halls of the dorms and collected candy from awaiting students. The two groups provided face painting, toilet paper rolling, dunking for apples and various other activities for the children to enjoy.

John Casciano spins the boy in hopes that he loses his sense of direction.

The young boy drenches himself with water as he bobs for an apple.

The word itself, "Halloween," actually has its origins in the Catholic Church. It comes from a contracted corruption of All Hallows Eve. November 1, "All Hollows Day" (or "All Saints Day"), is a Catholic day of observance in honor of saints. But, in the 5th century BC, in Celtic Ireland, summer officially ended on October 31. The holiday was called Samhain (sow-en), the Celtic New year.

Lyco Dance Club

Lycoming College Dance Program provides students of Lycoming College with an opportunity to meet new people and to develop their dance skills. The dance program adds to the diversity of the arts as well as a means of exercise and enjoyment. Types of dance offered include: Ballet/Lyrical, Dance Team, Hip Hop, Jazz, Latin, Swing and Tap. Co-Captains are Krystal L. Ray and Erica M. Walsh. Treasurer is Ashley Concini and Secretary is Kristina Cortes. The advisor is Prof. N. J. Stanley. Staged Dec. 8th, the Dance Club Fall Extravaganza featured a variety of dancers with entertaining vignettes.

Lycoming Embraces the Winter Season

As Mother Nature began its fury of coldness and snowstorms, the campus bundled up and put the finishing touches on the fall semester. The snow, nor the cold, kept the students from completing their work or enjoying the upcoming holiday season.

History Comes to Life

The Minnie Jean Brown-Trickey symposium was part of the spring semester symposium series that was based on the Civil Rights Movement. Originally scheduled in the Heim lecture hall, the event's popularity forced a change of venue to accommodate the overwhelming interest. The crowd ranged from high school students to elders from the community who lived during the movement.

Lycoming College Spring Symposium: Brown vs. Board of Education
THE ROAD TO CIVIL RIGHTS

Feb. 12, 7:30 PM
Clarke Chapel
Return to Little Rock:

MinniJean Brown-Trickey

MinniJean Brown-Trickey entered the civil rights movement, and America's consciousness, through the front door of Central High School in Little Rock, Arkansas as one of the "Little Rock Nine." On September 25th 1957, under the gaze of 1,200 armed soldiers and a worldwide audience, MinniJean Brown Trickey faced down an angry mob and helped to desegregate Central High. This was just the beginning of MinniJean's long career as a crusader for civil rights. MinniJean Brown-Trickey's life has been a powerful example of what one person can do to make the world a better place.

The Train Bandwagon

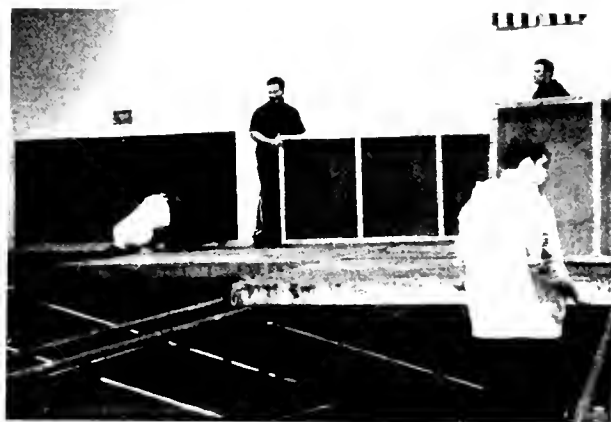

Many students joined in to prepare Lamade Gymnasium for the Train Concert. The Campus Activity Board enlisted volunteers to help unload the trucks and set up the stage. A large handful were designated as security and checked tickets and searched for cameras or other illegal objects. A lot of teamwork went into obtaining Train as the CAB concert and making the concert run smoothly.

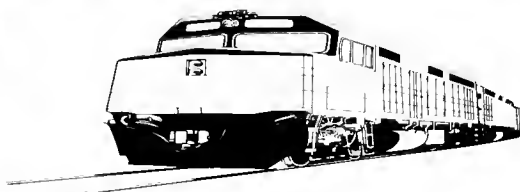

The girls chill before they start their volunteer security.

Come On Join the Train . . .

The Lycoming students, people from the community and travelling band groupies enjoyed the music of Grammy Award-winning Train on March 18, 2004 at 8 P.M. in the Lamade Gymnasium on campus. Train celebrated its tenth year this year. It was started by Erie, Pennsylvania Native, Pat Monahan, who is the lead singer. With songs like "Meet Virginia" and "Drops of Jupiter", their notability has skyrocketed since their 1998 self-released, self-titled debut album. Train joins the collection of well-known bands that CAB has presented over the years.

Incoming Students Hit Lyco by Storm

On Sunday, March 28, Ben Crever weekend was concluded with Accepted Student's Day. Ben Crever, played by Dean John F. Piper, walked again, greeting new and current students. Many clubs and organizations gathered in Pennington Lounge on Sunday afternoon to welcome new students and encourage them to join different activities. The participating clubs and organizations got a chance to showcase themselves to the Lyco community and the incoming students and parents. Nearly 260 accepted students attended the event, which was catered with many delicious treats.

Leadership Retreat

The annual retreat at Camp Susque is open to all leaders of clubs and organizations or students pursuing a leadership position. Students chose from a variety of leadership sessions, such as stress management, conflict resolution, building membership, cooperation/collaboration and decision making. The sessions push to inspire, refresh and re-energize the students.

While everyone dances until they drop, these girls rest so they last the whole night.

The Spring Formal took place on March 12, 2004 at the Scottish Rite Acacia Club in Williamsport. A number of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors came out for the night. Free food and non-alcoholic beverages were served. George Purcell and Jeremiah Harris were the DJs for the evening. Students danced into the early morning as they enjoyed an evening away from campus in a formal setting.

Lyco Breaks New Ground

Lycoming College cut the ribbon on its new recreation center on April 23, 2004 at 11:30 a.m. in a special ceremony that included the placement of a time capsule in an interior wall.

The $8.5 million center was designed by John C. Haas Associates, Inc., of State College while J. B. Gibbons Construction Co., Inc., of Williamsport served as the general contractor.

The new 54,000-square-foot facility is attached to the Lamade Gymnasium. It contains four multipurpose courts, an elevated 1/8 mile indoor running track, an expanded weight room and a large exercise and fitness area. The construction took 17 months to complete from the official groundbreaking in November of 2002.

According to J. B. Gibbons Construction Company, the building contains 800 tons of steel, 56 tons of rebar, 2,850 cubic yards of concrete, 108,000 units of concrete block and approximately 90,000 bricks.

Participating in the actual ribbon-cutting ceremony were: Dr. James E. Douthat, President of Lycoming College; Mr. Robert L. Shangraw '58, Chairman of the Board of Trustees; Mr. Hugh H. Sides '60, Trustee Chair of Buildings and Grounds Committee; Dr. Daniel G. Fultz '57, Trustee; Dr. Sue A. Saunders, Dean of Student Affairs; Mr. Robert W. Griesemer, Vice President and Treasurer of the College; Mrs. Laura C. Johnson, Director of Student Recreation and Conferences; Mr. Frank L. Girardi, Sr., Director of Athletics; Dr. Mehrdad Madresehee, Vice Chair of the Faculty; and Ms. Christine M. Colella '04, President of the Student Senate of Lycoming College.

Douthat spoke about the changes it will make for the Lycoming community.

Christine Colella gave the perspectives of the new center.

Sangraw noted the contributions to make the recreation center happen.

The senior athletes wished the future athletes great achievement in their new facility.

In addition to a letter to the future depicting college life in 2004, the students chose a college catalog, a parking ticket, a student ID, and a tuition bill along with twenty other items of general interest.

Tour De Rec. Center

As the finishing touches were being put on the new recreation center. The public was welcomed to tour the facility even though it wasn't deemed completed. After the ribbon cutting ceremony, many people made their way to the provided food and beverage. However, they then ventured throughout the building observing all the new features.

Weekend Entertainment

The students enjoy a wide range of activities during the weekend, whether it is playing pool in J.P.'s, listening to a student band or laughing at a comedian. The Campus Activities Board and other student organizations provide entertainment to the students almost every weekend.

Seniors Try It All

The seniors take advantage of every opportunity they have to further their education and career possibilities. Outside of their academics, they relax with their friends or participate in service projects for the many activities and organizations in which they are involved.

The Alma Mater

We sing to Lycoming with clarion voice of praise,
The thunderbird speaks for the glory of yesterdays
The blue of honor, gold of valor, born of sky and sun.
We blaze a trail of light through our valley
Holding a torch of flame for our Alma Mater,
Illustrious be her name.
With tribal devotion we pledge our consecration.

A Chieftain of old, standing sentinel in the sun.
Old Main guards the memory of battles lost and won.
Of our incantation, dedications, praising our warriors bold.
Abidingly true, old friendships and new find worth
In the bonds of Lycoming; long may her sachem
Proclaim her noble birth
With high exultation, we chant to her creation.

The College Mace

The mace has an ancient history as a symbol of authority. In its current use by many colleges and universities, the mace is carried before the president in academic processions and represents the authority of the institution.

The Lycoming College mace was presented to the College by the Class of 1963. It is carried at formal College Convocations by the chair of the faculty.

Academic Apparel

The gowns, caps and hoods which distinguish the academic procession represent an ancient tradition. The history of the distinctive gowns goes back to the very beginnings of the European universities in the 12th century. At the time full-flowing gowns were not unusual. The mortarboard cap first came into use in the 16th century England and legend has it that it was patterned after the quadrangular shape of an Oxford campus.

The cut of the academic gown, although not easily distinguishable, is significant. The bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves and two pleats on either side. The master's gown differs in that it has a long crescent-shaped sleeve. The doctoral gown is most often distinguished by full-length velvet panels on the front and velvet bands on the sleeves. Some doctoral granting institutions have incorporated other specific design elements in the gown designs.

The hood can usually provide the best clue to a scholar's discipline. The color of the velvet bands on each hood represents the discipline of the wearer and the lining of the hood contains the official colors of the school awarding the degree.

The colors for each academic degree, established by the American Council on Education, include: White for Arts, Letters and Humanities; Scarlet for Theology or Divinity; Drab for Business Administration, Commerce and Accounting; Copper for Economics; Light Blue for Education; Brown for Fine Arts; Lemon for Library Science; Green for Medicine; Silver Gray for Oratory; Dark Blue for Philosophy; Sage Green for Physical Education; Gold-Yellow for Science; Citron for Social Science and Pink for Music.

Senior Celebration: Celebrating

It has been a long, exciting, four-year journey for the Class of 2004. As would be expected from this class, members said goodbye to their college experience in grand style at the Senior Celebration. The third annual Senior Celebration took place Saturday, April 24, at DiSalvo's Restaurant. More than 65 percent of the senior class was in attendance. The patio was open for the social hour and the seniors took advantage of the magnificent spring evening to say goodbye and thank you to the variety of faculty and staff who attended. DiSalvo's grand ballroom was opened for the main event that featured a formal buffet feast, remarks from Senior Class officers and College dignitaries. Two exciting new features were added to the Senior Celebration. A photo presentation of seniors throughout their career at Lycoming was very touching. The students also participated in the official unveiling of Senior Class Project; a seascape oil painting by Roger Shipley that is permanently on display in the Burchfield Lounge. Music played and students sang along with karaoke provided by Disc Jockey Bill Robbins. The Senior Celebration was a great send-off for the Class of 2004 as its members continue their personal and professional journeys in life beyond the gates of their alma mater.

Katie Campbell begins the program with an opening prayer.

Cassie Gordon, the Senior Class Secretary, served on the Senior Celebration Planning Committee and as the Master of Ceremonies for the event.

Chalyn Baker and Nikeisha Henry show off their moves.

DiSalvo's restaurant provides delicious foods at several serving stations.

Destiny Zeiders and Deanna Petrovay raise a glass in celebration.

Christine Colella, Senate President, and Dr. James Douthat, give words of welcome and congratulations.

a Long Journey's End

The patio with its fountains, music and great spring evening, was a perfect spot to mingle with classmates, faculty and staff.

Jennifer Wilson, (far right) advisor to the Gamma Delta Sigma sorority, presents each senior with a rose in honor of the occasion.

Senior Class Officers assist with the unveiling of the Senior Class Project, a piece of artwork that will be on permanent display in the Burchfield Lounge, while Roger Shipley, left, provides commentary concerning the piece he was commissioned to complete.

Raise your glass for a toast offered in memory of old friends and for all that lays before you as you leave Lycoming College.

Baccalaureate Service

The One Hundred Fifty-Sixth Annual Commencement

MAY 8, 2004

Baccalaureate Sermon given by the Most Reverend Joseph F. Martino, D.D., Hist.
E.D., Bishop of Scranton

Bishop Joseph Francis Martino was installed in October 2003 as the ninth Bishop of Scranton and spiritual leader of the 355,422 Roman Catholics and 225 active priests who staff the 195 parishes across the eleven-county Diocese of Scranton. Prior to coming to Scranton, Martino served as Auxiliary Bishop to the Archbishop of Philadelphia, Cardinal Anthony Bevilacqua.

Bishop Martino holds a doctorate in Ecclesiastical History from the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, Italy, and also is a graduate of Saint Charles Borromeo College Seminary. Ordained in 1970, Martino had held a variety of assignments. From 1984 to 1986, he conducted a special research assignment of the archdiocese, authoring the official church document pleading the beatification of Mother Katharine Drexel, founder of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament. She was proclaimed a saint in 2000.

Passing the Light of Learning

Robert L. Shangraw, Chairman, Board of Trustees, Class of 1958

"This lamp is a symbol of the Light of Learning. It represents the spirit of education and the tradition of knowledge passed from one generation to another."

Owen F. Herring, Chair of the Faculty

"I give to you this lamp as a symbol of the Light of Learning. Honor it, protect it, Treasure it. Use it to benefit the lives of all people."

Timothy F. Sullivan, President, Class of 2004

"We receive this lamp as a symbol of the Light of Learning. I have grown, matured, and prospered in its glow. May those who follow grow strong in its light."

Pamela S. Tipler, President, Class of 2005

"Although the winds of time may cause the light to flicker, may the security of knowledge protect the flame."

Andrew R. Derr, President, Class of 2006

"Although the way may sometimes seem dark, may the quest for the unknown keep the light aflame."

Bradley R. Myhre, President, Class of 2007

"Although this lamp often changes hands, may those who bear it never grow weary."

Time to Graduate

The Marshalls of the Class of 2004 are treasurer, Matt Stenardi; vice president, Lauren Evangelist; president, Tim Sullivan; and secretary, Cassie Gordon.

Happy graduates enter onto the quad for the commencement ceremony through the Oliver Sterling Metzler Gate. This is the only time each year that the gate is unlocked.

Roll call! Sound off for graduation. While awaiting the 2004 Graduation Ceremony, Lycoming College students relax in Pennington Lounge.

Two Receive Honorary Degrees from Lycoming

Mamie Sweetings Diggs, Robert L. Shangraw Join College Celebration

Two people from the Williamsport area received an honorary degree from Lycoming College during Commencement ceremonies on May 9, 2004. Robert L. Shangraw received an Honorary Doctor of Laws and Mamie Sweeting Diggs received an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters.

Robert L. Shangraw

Robert L. Shangraw, who retired in 2001 from Merrill Lynch as First Vice President of Investments, is also a member of the Class of 1958 of Lycoming College. He has been Lycoming's Board Chair since 1989 and chaired two capital campaigns for the College.

The long-time resident of Williamsport has given a lifetime of community service to the Williamsport Area. In addition to serving on the Lycoming College Board of Trustees for the past 19 years, he is a past president and board member of the Williamsport-Lycoming Foundation. He served as chairman of the recent capital campaign for the Children's Development Center and has been involved in capital campaigns for Little League Baseball and for the Hiawatha paddlewheeler. He has also served as chairman of the Williamsport Area Community College Building Authority and as chairman of the Williamsport Area Joint School Authority.

Mamie Sweeting Diggs

Mamie Sweeting Diggs is the fourth generation descendent of Daniel Hughes, a conductor on the Underground Railroad in Lycoming County. Mrs. Diggs can often be found in schools, colleges, museums, libraries and any other place that people gather, telling the history and stories that were passed down from Daniel to his thirteen sons.

Mamie's grandfather, Robert, helped his father, Daniel

Hughes, hide escaped slaves in the caves behind their home on Freedom Road. They fed them, nursed the sick back to health and delivered them safely to the next "station." Robert passed the stories to his children, including Mamie's mother, Marion.

Mamie Sweeting Diggs spent years researching and documenting the stories she had heard since childhood and donated her research to the Lycoming College archives. Mrs. Diggs was responsible for historical research on the WVIA video "Follow the North Star to Freedom" and the Lycoming College Art Department website "Freedom Bound." And probably most importantly, she has personally brought history alive for several generations of school children in Lycoming County. Mamie was an honored guest, along with Harriet Tubman's great granddaughter, at the initial launch of the Freedom Schooner "Amistad" and has won a number of awards for her community service and story-telling.

Ms. Diggs has worked with several members of the Lycoming College faculty through the years, including speaking to classes on the history of the African-American community in Williamsport. She is respected as the preeminent historian of the older Williamsport African American community.

Lycoming Athletics

Lycoming Student Athletes Honored

Four student athletes were honored for their achievements and contributions to Lycoming College at the Honors Convocation held in Lamade Gymnasium in spring 2004.

The Sol "Woody" Wolf Award was presented to junior Phil Mann. This award is given the athlete who has shown the most improvement in intercollegiate competition during his or her first three years of college.

Mann was the quarterback for the Lycoming College football team. He started for the Warriors for his sophomore and junior years, but missed most of the 2004 season because of an injury. In 2003, he led the team to its first MAC Championship since 1999 and the NCAA Division III Elite Eight. Mann threw for 2,473 yards on 156 of 358 passes for 16 touchdowns in his junior season. He rushed for 279 yards and carried the ball 114 times for nine touchdowns.

The Pocahontas Award is given to the female student who has performed creditably in both academic and athletic areas and has contributed herself to the college. This award was presented to Seniors Katy Kresge and Heidi Von Schwedler.

Kresge is a member of the women's basketball and softball teams. She started at center field all four years of her softball career. Kresge has tallied 138 put outs while committing only two errors. In 2003, she led the Warriors to the Freedom Conference final.

As a member of the Warrior Women's basketball team, Kresge scored 352 points and pulled down 299 rebounds while starting in 17 games. This past season she led the Warriors to their first winning season since the 1999-2000 season. The team missed the playoffs on a tiebreaker.

Von Schwedler is a member of the Warrior women's tennis team. During her career, she recorded 27 wins and 10 losses in singles play with 36 wins and six losses in doubles play.

During the 2003 campaign von Schwedler and her doubles partner, sophomore Josemar Castillo, went 11 and 1 in competition. The duo made it all the way to the conference semifinals before they suffered their only loss.

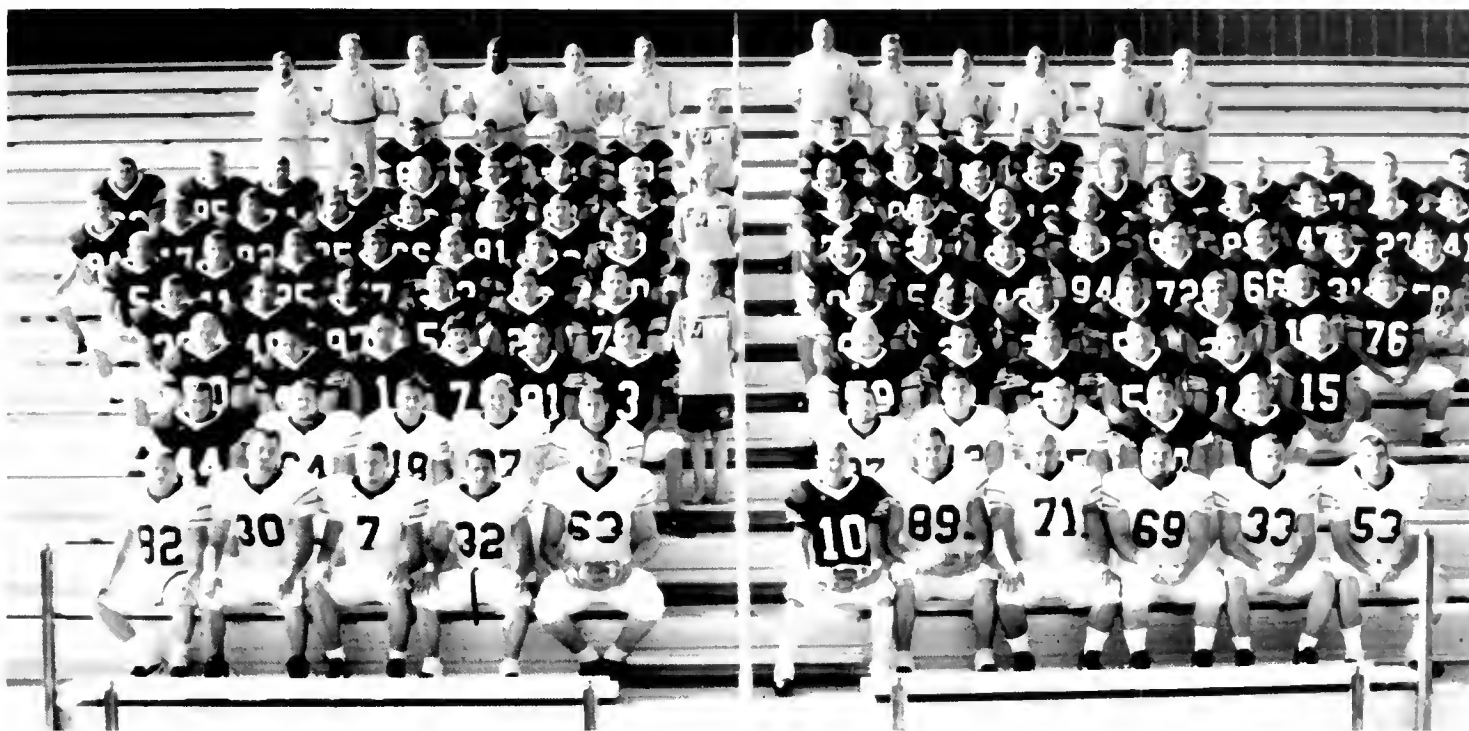

Matthew Stackhouse was presented with the Tomahawk Award, which goes to the male student who has performed creditably in both academic and athletic areas and has contributed himself to the college.

Stackhouse is a standout player for the Warriors men's basketball team. During his time at Lycoming College, he led the team to the Freedom Conference playoffs four times winning the title twice, including his senior year.

The 6 foot, 8 inch Stackhouse is a big man who has put up big numbers. During his career he scored 1,204 points, pulled down 753 rebounds and blocked 142 shots.

Warrior Football Ends Season With Victory

The Lycoming College football team traveled to Susquehanna University for its final game of the 2004 season. The Warriors put together the type of performance they expected they would see all season. All three phases — offense, defense, and special teams — played extremely well for Lycoming en route to a dominating 35-7 victory over the Crusaders. The Warriors finished the year at 3-7.

Lycoming's offense was led by freshman Brandon Traugh (Catawissa, Pa.; Southern Columbia) who carried the ball 18 times and rushed for a career high 145 yards and one touchdown. Senior quarterback Phil Mann (Mill Hall, Pa.; Central Mountain), playing his final game in a Warrior uniform, completed 7-of-14 passes for 95 yards, while also rushing for 33 yards and three touchdowns. Joe Cosmello (So./New Milford, Pa.; Montrose) accounted for Lycoming's other touchdown, gaining 43 yards on eight carries. Ray Withelder (Sr./Aston, Pa.; Sun Valley) and Chris Beissel (So./Leesport, Pa.; Schuylkill Valley) each made two catches for 37 and 22 yards, respectively, to lead the receiving corps.

Defensively, Ryan Repko (So./Perkiomenville, Pa.; Boyertown) led the Warriors with eight total tackles, a fumble recovery, and an interception. Brian Kaspick (Sr./Clearfield, Pa.; Clearfield) and Tyler Barth (Fr./Lock Haven, Pa.; Central Mountain) also recovered fumbles for a Lycoming defense that forced four turnovers.

The Warriors held the Crusaders to a three-and-out on the game's opening drive and took over on their own 48-yard line following a 24-yard punt.

Midway through the second quarter, the Warriors mounted another scoring drive. Starting at their own 29-yard line, Lycoming used nine running plays and just two passes to march 71 yards for a touchdown, while chewing up 4:48 off the clock.

Cosmello capped the drive with a two-yard run to paydirt. Schrader connected for his third extra-point to give Lycoming a 21-0 advantage at halftime.

The Warriors continued to emphasize the running game to open the second half. Sparked by a 27-yard run by Traugh, Lycoming moved the ball 53 yards on five plays for their fourth touchdown of the game. Mann finished off the drive with a three-yard run for the score — his third rushing TD of the contest. Schrader stayed perfect on extra-points with his fourth of the day for a 28-0 Warrior lead.

Lycoming's offense kept rolling behind the running of Traugh adding a fifth touchdown late in the third quarter. Traugh capped a four-play, 54-yard drive with a 28-yard run for the first touchdown of his collegiate career. Schrader again added the point-after to extend the score to 35-0.

Frank Girardi completed his 33rd year at the helm of the Lycoming College football program in 2004. He has become a legend in his field by building one of the most respected and consistently successful NCAA Division III football programs in the nation.

Through the 2004 campaign at Lycoming, Girardi has built a career record of 244-81-5 – a winning percentage of .739. He is one of only four active coaches at the Division III level to record 200 victories and one of only 12 active coaches at all levels of the NCAA to reach the milestone.

Warrior teams coached by Girardi have won 13 Middle Atlantic Conference championships and made 11 appearances in the NCAA playoffs, including trips to the Stagg Bowl, the Division III national championship game, in 1990 and 1997. Lycoming put together a streak of 29 consecutive winning seasons under the direction of Girardi.

His accomplishments and consistency have not gone unnoticed by others. The Middle Atlantic Conference has honored Girardi as Coach of the Year on 12 occasions, and in 1999 he became the Robert W. Maxwell Football Club's first recipient of their Tri-State Coach of the Year Award. The award is presented to an outstanding college or high school coach from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, or Delaware.

Girardi began his love affair with football in high school when he carried the ball as a running back for the Williamsport Millionaires. He continued to play at the collegiate level at West Chester University.

Girardi entered the coaching ranks in 1961 when he became an assistant at Jersey Shore High School. He became head coach of the team in 1963 and remained in that position for six years.

In 1969, Girardi became an assistant at Lycoming under Budd Whitehill. Three years later, he took the reins as head coach of a Warrior program that had gone 14-34 since their last winning season in 1965. Lycoming's woes continued during Girardi's first three seasons with marks of 2-6, 2-6 and 3-6. But in his fourth season, the Warriors went 6-2 and have had only one losing campaign since.

In 1984, Girardi accepted an expanded role in the College's athletic department as the Director of Athletics. He continues to serve in that capacity today, overseeing Lycoming's 19 intercollegiate athletic programs.

Girardi resides in Williamsport with his wife Lynne. Their daughter Justine, graduated from Lycoming in 1996. Three other Girardi children – Cathy, Jerry, and Frank Jr. – have also graduated from the College.

Men's Basketball

The Lycoming College men's basketball team's 2003-2004 welcomed back a wealth of experience with four starters and 10 players returning from last year's squad. Providing the leadership for the team was senior co-captains Matt Stackhouse (Hughesville, Pa.; Hughesville) and L.J. Huggler (Kersey, Pa.; St. Marys). Stackhouse is a two-time all-conference player who averaged 17.2 points and 10.4 rebounds per game last season. Huggler added 12.7 points and 5.5 rebounds per contest.

Also returning from last season's starting line-up were sophomore Jonathan Pribble (Woolrich, Pa.; Central Mountain) and junior Shaun Morris (Camp Hill, Pa.; Trinity). Pribble was the Freedom Conference rookie-of-the-year following the 2002-2003 season. He averaged 14.4 points and 5.5 rebounds a game for the Warriors. Morris was a two-guard but led the team with 98 assists while also scoring 5.1 points per game.

Don Friday will enter his second season as head coach of the men's basketball program at Lycoming in 2004. In his first year at the helm, Friday guided the Warriors to the program's second conference championship and an appearance in the second round of the NCAA playoffs.

Coach Ditzler Rewrites Record

Christen Ditzler has helped to rewrite the Lycoming College women's basketball record book in her 11 years as the Warriors' head coach.

She has compiled a 153-119 record in her coaching tenure and already ranks first in Lycoming women's basketball history in both coaching wins and winning percentage (.563).

During Ditzler's reign, the Warriors have been a frequent qualifier for the conference tournament. Lycoming has reached the post-season in six of her 11 seasons and have advanced to the NCAA Division III tournament once.

Ditzler led her 1996-97 team to a 17-10 record and a runner-up finish in the MAC Freedom League. For her efforts, Ditzler was named both the MAC Freedom League and Columbus Multimedia's Middle Atlantic Region coach of the year.

The Annville, Pa. native's first three seasons also saw great success. In the 1995-96 season, Ditzler led Lycoming to a 16-9 overall record and a runner-up finish in the MAC Freedom League.

The 1994-95 campaign was equally impressive with the Warriors winning 17 games and reaching the semifinals of the conference tournament. Ditzler's '93-94 team posted a 14-9 record.

A graduate of Franklin and Marshall College, Ditzler began her coaching career in 1989 as a graduate assistant at West Chester University. In 1991, she was an assistant coach at Millersville.

She came to Lycoming in the 1992-93 season as an assistant under then coach Jim Orr.

Ditzler also serves as the head softball coach at Lycoming and has led the Warriors to the conference tournament in nine of her 12 seasons.

Cross Country Coach Wydra

The Lycoming College women's cross country coach is Adrienne Wydra, who also was named assistant basketball coach for the 2004-2005 season.

Wydra is a 2001 graduate of Lycoming where she was a three-year member of the women's basketball team. She started all three seasons at point guard and accumulated 335 points, 293 assists, and 184 steals during her career. She ranks second all-time for the Warriors in career steals and third in career assists. She also holds the single-game record for steals with nine, in a game versus FDU-Florham in 1999. Wydra was also a member of the softball team during her three years at the College.

As a member of Lycoming's athletic staff, Wydra has served as the head coach for the women's and men's cross country programs for the past three seasons.

"I'm excited to welcome Adrienne back to the program," Ditzler said about Wydra working as assistant basketball coach. "She was a talented athlete and strong leader during her playing days, and I'm confident she will be able to pass on the knowledge gained through her experience to our current players."

Wydra currently resides in Williamsport.

Talarico Heads Lacrosse Team

The Lycoming College athletics department hired Michael Talarico as head coach of the men's lacrosse program. Talarico became the third coach in the program's eight-year history, replacing Shawn Rosa who resigned in June to pursue other opportunities.

"We're extremely happy to welcome Michael to Lycoming as the next head coach of the men's lacrosse program," said Director of Athletics Frank Girardi. "Michael is very familiar with the Middle Atlantic Conference both as a player and as a coach. We believe he possesses the skills to build upon the success that our men's lacrosse program has achieved and the enthusiasm to enhance our student-athletes' college experiences."

Talarico is a 2001 graduate of Drew University, where he was a member of the Ranger lacrosse team. He went on to earn a master's degree from Widener University in 2003 while serving as an assistant coach for the Pioneers.

While at Widener, Talarico was the team's offensive coordinator and was also responsible for coordinating recruiting efforts; developing strength, conditioning, and agility programs; assisting the head coach in game and practice planning, scouting, fund raising, administrative duties, and travel arrangements; and serving as the box coach on game days – executing substitutions during the game. In his three seasons with the Pioneers, Talarico helped guide the team to a pair of MAC Championships and two appearances in the NCAA tournament. Widener finished the 2003 season ranked 23rd in the nation in the coaches' poll.

As a player at Drew, Talarico was a four-time All-Middle Atlantic Conference selection and was the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Most Valuable Player in 1999. He was also dubbed the Rangers' athlete of the year in 2001.

Talarico inherits a team that returns 14 letterwinners and five starters from last season's 7-6 squad. The Warriors are three years removed from back-to-back appearances in the MAC Championship game.

Lycoming's Wilcox, Evangelist Named To All-Conference Lacrosse Teams

Lycoming College juniors Lauren Evangelist (Perkiomen Valley, PA; Boyertown) and Dan Wilcox (Corning, NY; Corning East) were named to the 2003 All-Middle Atlantic Conference second teams for women's and men's lacrosse, respectively.

Evangelist was the Warriors' top two-way player in 2003, leading the team in groundballs with 53, draw controls with 33, and assists with 12. She also was second on the team with 24 goals and 36 points. Her groundball and draw control totals were both good enough for third-best within the entire MAC. This is the third consecutive season Evangelist has been named to the all-conference second team.

Wilcox was Lycoming's leading scorer in 2003 with 45 goals and 14 assists. He also had 35 groundballs on the season. His 3.21 goals-per-game average ranked fourth in the MAC. Wilcox also set a new school record for goals in a game with 11 on March 24, versus Neumann College. This is the second consecutive season Wilcox has been named to the all-conference second team.

Kara Bates Named New Head Coach

Lycoming College athletics director Frank Girardi has hired Kara Bates as the head coach of the women's lacrosse program. Bates became the fourth coach in the eight-year history of the program.

Bates comes to Lycoming after coaching soccer, basketball, and lacrosse at Newark High School in New York. A 1999 graduate of Bowling Green State University, Bates played both soccer and ice hockey while earning a bachelor's degree in sports management. She went on to attend the State University of New York at Brockport and to earn a bachelor's degree in physical education in May of 2001.

"We're extremely pleased to have Kara as the next head coach of our women's lacrosse program," said Athletics Director Frank Girardi. "We're confident that Kara will inject a new enthusiasm into our youngest athletic program and continue building a team that will be competitive at both the conference and national level."

Warrior Men's Soccer Claims Four All-Conference Players

Four members of the Lycoming College men's soccer team were named to the All-Freedom Conference teams. Senior Kory Wertz (Middletown, Pa.; Middletown) and sophomore Jeff Kocher (Churchville, Md.; C. Milton Wright) were both named to the first team. Senior Ian Kauffman (Lewisberry, Pa.; Red Land) and junior Jason Fesler (Carlisle, Pa.; Cumberland Valley) were named to the second team.

Wertz, a team captain, is a member of the Warriors' starting defense that has allowed opponents just 10 shots per game and a total of just 14 goals in 19 matches this season. Wertz has also contributed a goal and four assists.

Kocher is the Warriors' top offensive threat. He leads the team in both goals and assists with 21 and 16, respectively. His 16 assists and 58 points are both Lycoming single-season records and his 21 goals are equal to the program's single-season high.

Kauffman is another team captain and member of the Warrior defense. In addition to directing Lycoming's defense and midfield from his position at sweeper, Kauffman has also scored four goals.

Fesler is the Warriors' starting goalkeeper. In 19 matches, Fesler has played 1,542 minutes allowing just 13 goals for a miniscule 0.76 goals-against-average. He has also made 94 saves and has a save percentage of .879. In addition, Fesler has recorded six shutouts for Lycoming and has played 349 consecutive minutes without allowing a score.

The Warriors finished the regular season with a mark of 15-4 overall.

2003-04 Lycoming College Women's Soccer Team

The Lycoming College women's soccer program entered its second season under the leadership of head coach Scott Kennell in 2003. In 2002, he adopted a team in desperate need for some consistency after having three different coaches in eight seasons of existence. In the 2003-04 season, Kennell welcomed his first recruiting class and began the process of rebuilding the Warriors into conference contenders.

"The program was really lacking direction prior to last year," said Kennell. "But the girls were very receptive to new ideas and were excited about the opportunity to turn this thing around. We had some talent on the team but lacked the depth to be competitive on a consistent basis. It is going to take some time to become one of the top teams in the conference, but I'm confident we're building a solid foundation and moving in the right direction."

Leading the way for Lycoming were the team's tri-captains – juniors Laura Dillon (Bayside, N.Y.; Saint Mary's), Kristina Kleintop (Danielsville, Pa.; Northampton), and Beth Weixel (Mill Hall, Pa.; Central Mountain). Dillon started at an outside midfield position. She has the speed and skills to beat defenders on the outside and create scoring opportunities. Kleintop started at an outside back position. She is excellent at marking up opponents and adds valuable experience to the Warrior defense. Weixel was Lycoming's starting goalkeeper. She lacked experience in net, but had the athleticism and quickness to be very successful.

Sophomores Kaitlyn Prairie (Delran, N.J.; Delran) and Jennifer Mercer (Dushore, Pa.; Sullivan County) played major roles for the Warriors in 2003. Prairie started in the center midfield and helped direct the squad's offensive attack. Prairie is one of Lycoming's most creative players and led the team in assists last season, the coach said. Mercer was the Warriors' starting stopper. She is an excellent defender who will often draw the opponent's top attacker. Mercer is also a very strong ball handler who can add an extra push to Lycoming's offense.

Other players returning from 2002's team included: Kelly Connors (Eatontown, N.J.; Monmouth Regional), Jennifer Darpino (Bensalem, Pa.; Bensalem), Kelly Driscoll (New Milford, Pa.; Blue Ridge), and Jody Weir (Sunbury, Pa.; Shikellamy). Connors, a junior, and Darpino, a sophomore, competed for playing time up top for the Warriors. Driscoll, a sophomore, competed to start at outside back, opposite Kleintop. Weir, a sophomore, will compete for one of the starting midfield positions.

Three Warriors Named to All-Conference Team

The Lycoming College softball program claimed three members of the All-Freedom Conference team. Jess Feerrar (Sr./Lock Haven, PA; Lock Haven) was named to the first-team as a second baseman, and Morgan Mantle (Fr./Jersey Shore, PA; Jersey Shore) and Amanda Gery (So./Whitehall, PA; Whitehall) were both named first-team pitchers. Mantle was singled out as the Pitcher of the Year, as well. Warrior head coach Chris Ditzler was also honored as the Coach of the Year, as voted on by her peers.

Feerrar was one of Lycoming's top hitters, collecting 23 hits in 75 at-bats for a batting average of .307. Her four triples were best on the team and her five doubles ranked third on the squad. Add in a homerun and Feerrar collected 39 total bases for a slugging percentage of .520 -- best among everyday players for the Warriors. Within the conference, Feerrar ranked fourth in triples and 10th in slugging percentage.

Mantle was one half of the top pitching duo in the Freedom Conference. In 19 appearances, she compiled a record of 10-5 with an earned-run-average of just 0.93. Mantle allowed just 74 hits in 120 innings pitched and struck out 113 while walking only 28 batters. She led the league in opponents' batting average (.173), innings pitched, and strikeouts, while ranking second in ERA and third in wins.

Gery was the other half of Lycoming's pitching tandem. She also recorded 10 victories while picking up just three losses in 14 appearances. Gery sported an ERA of 1.46 and gave up 75 hits in 91 innings while striking out 81 and walking 14. She was second in the conference in strikeouts, third in victories and opponents' batting average (.217), fourth in ERA, and fifth in innings pitched. Gery was named the Rookie of the Year in 2002.

Ditzler was named the Freedom Conference Coach of the Year after guiding the team to an overall record of 22-12-1. The 22 wins equaled the all-time high for the program. Lycoming also went 11-3 within the conference to finish second during the regular season. The Warriors then placed second in the conference tournament, falling only to eventual champion King's College. This season was Ditzler's 11th as head coach. She has compiled a career record of 186-101-1 and qualified her teams for the conference playoffs eight times. In 1995, Ditzler led Lycoming to the program's only conference title.

Powder Puff Football

The fun-filled Ben Crever and Little Siblings weekend began with Friday night's powder-puff football game, which was rescheduled from Homecoming 2003, due to inclement weather. The seniors defeated the juniors, resulting in the Class of 2004 going undefeated in their four years of competition.

Intramural Sports

The intramural sports program is designed to provide a well-rounded program of competitive and recreational sports throughout the academic year. Through participation, individuals can develop an appreciation of the worthy use of leisure time, a wholesome attitude toward physical endeavors, and the desire for life-sports.

The recreation and intramural sports program is open to all students, faculty, and staff of the college. Each semester, a variety of sports are offered, including volleyball, flag football, indoor soccer, basketball and many others. The mission of Intramural Sports is to provide a recreational environment for the University community which is safe and enjoyable. While the game atmosphere is often competitive, ensuring participant safety, providing a fun, social atmosphere, and promoting sportsmanlike behavior among participants, spectators, and team followers are our primary concerns. The game atmosphere should remain good-natured at all times.

Winter Track Club

Winter Track Club offers off-season training and competition for students interested in cross-country and track/field events in the new Recreation Center. The new 54,000-square-foot Recreation Center facility is attached to the Lamade Gymnasium. It contains four multipurpose courts and elevated 1/8 mile indoor running track.

Crew Club

The Crew Club was established for the purpose of developing athleticism, teamwork, leadership skills, and communication while maintaining the high standards of the sport of crew. As a club program, the main goal is fun. But part of fun is doing well, and that means getting in shape, learning good rowing technique, and building a team. Winning races is also very nice. Presently, the club is looking to find at least eight rowers and a coxswain who are interested in becoming a part of the Crew Club. The current faculty adviser is Robin Knauth, who took up rowing (sweep) in 1989 with the Carnegie Lake Rowing Association in Princeton. She took up sculling out of Harvard's Weld boat house in Cambridge after marrying former US National Rowing Team coxswain Geoffrey Knauth.

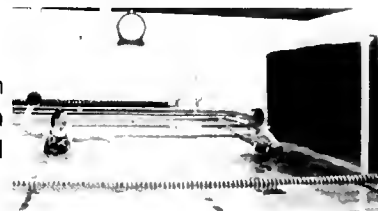

Water Polo Club

The Water Polo Club provides an opportunity for all Lycoming students to pursue an interest in the sport of water polo in a fun-filled, educational atmosphere.

Roller Hockey Club

Lycoming College's Roller Hockey Club strives to develop sportsmanship and team skills as well as to provide student participation in an athletic event. This is the inaugural year for the club that has both men and women players. Team Captain Brian Dowling was instrumental in organizing the club. The advisor is Janice L. Ogurcak.

Assistant Captain Matt Stendardi maneuvers around an opposing player during a game at the Williamsport YMCA Pickelner Arena. Sean Cunningham also was an assistant captain.

Juggling

The Juggling Club is for those students who are interested in juggling, but don't know how. It is a friendly, fun club and all are welcome. The club holds its meetings in the basement of Clarke Chapel in United Campus Ministry.

"The Lycoming College Shotokan Karate club has provided me with one of the most enriching experiences during my freshman year. I first entered this class out of curiosity, and now I am staying in this class as a member of the Lycoming Shotokan Karate Club, not a student registered for PE credit. We have had lessons together with students of Penn College and attended seminars and examinations at Penn State University. Though the class only takes two hours each week, I feel that it is one of the best places to relax after hours of doing school stuff. Here we don't actually relax our body, but instead relax our mind and let our spirit loose with every punch and "kiai." On top of that, we learn to control breathing, power, and body movement. Karate indeed trains both body and spirit well, for it has made me feel jolly good."

Peer Ministry

Peer Ministry is young adults helping young adults. Peer Ministers are students who share faith and friendship. As student leaders on campus, the peer ministers engage in listening to others and self, enlivening community, articulating values and beliefs, developing the spiritual, experiencing life with compassion and realizing visibility on campus. The program administrator is Sister Catherine Ann Gilvary.

Education Association

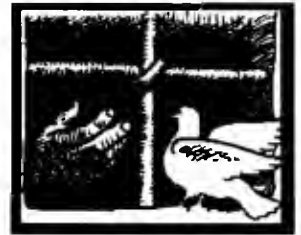

The teacher education program and education association at Lycoming College brings together a strong liberal arts emphasis, intensive study in an academic major, a carefully planned sequence of professional education courses, and extensive field experiences in the public schools. The professional semester consists of two campus-based seminars and a 12-week student teaching experience. The greater Williamsport area offers abundant opportunities for classroom experience just minutes from campus.

Amnesty International

The Lycoming College chapter of Amnesty International supports the worldwide movement of fostering education for the preservation of human rights and social justice. The advisor is Dr. Sandra L. Kingery.

Big Brothers Big Sisters

From recruitment activities to Halloween and Christmas parties, Bigs know how to show their Lil' Sibs fun. The mission of Big Brothers/Big Sisters is to provide a community resource for children at risk and in need of a positive role model to support their growth and development. Through one-to-one matches, the Lycoming College student volunteers help these children enhance their self-esteem, personal safety and study skills, and set goals for the future.

History of Big Brothers, Big Sisters

In 1903, Irvin Westheimer, a 23-year-old businessman in Cincinnati saw a young boy and his dog scavenging through trash cans for food. Compelled by the sight of this boy, Irvin introduced himself and gave him a decent meal. He learned the boy's name was Tom, and that he was one of five children in a single-parent home.

When Westheimer met Tom's mom and saw the impoverished state the family was in, he asked for permission to take Tom out on various outings. Tom's mom consented, and soon he became a trusted mentor for the youth. Westheimer went on to found the Big Brother Association of Cincinnati in 1910.

Meanwhile, in 1904, Ernest Coulter, New York newspaperman who left journalism to work in the city's first children's court, started his own crusade to foster adult-youth who came through his courts. Coulter became increasingly appalled by the suffering and misery displayed by the thousands of children who passed through the court every year. The two joined. Planning for the first national Big Brothers and Big Sisters organizations began in 1914. The first federation got under way in 1921, but it was short lived. During the Great Depression, the federation dissolved and would not emerge again until the 1950s. In 1958 the United States Congress officially chartered a newly formed Big Brother of America. Then, in 1970, Big Sisters International was chartered. These two organizations would merge in 1977 to form Big Brothers Big Sisters of America, establishing the national headquarters in Philadelphia. By 1994, the BBBSA federation had matched 75,000 children from single-parent homes with caring adult volunteers through more than 500 agencies in all 50 states.

Service Scholars are selected annually based on an application process. Once chosen, each scholar must work six hours per week throughout the academic year. Upon successful completion of the term service, the student will receive a scholarship award. The service scholar must maintain a 2.5 grade point average and an evaluation will be done at the end of the student's term of of service for the awarding of the scholarship for the following year. The student scholar works under the supervision of Lycoming's Community Service Director, Marco Hunsberger.

REAL

Religious Exploration At Lycoming (REAL) is a student-initiated group dedicated to exploring and educating itself about the religious diversity in the Williamsport area by visiting religious services of all kinds - from the Quaker Meeting to the Door Fellowship and beyond. The group is using a directory of the United Churches of Lycoming College from the local Chamber of Commerce. Student leaders are Cynthia Betz and Stamatis Zeris. The faculty advisor is Religion Prof. Steve Johnson.

United Campus Ministries

UCM Christmas Party

The United Campus Ministry is committed to loving our campus by building relationships with the people we interact with, to help each other in our walk with God.

Campus Ministry provides many opportunities for students to talk, find friends, share their concerns, work out their faith, or put their faith into action with a variety of people.

Philosophy of United Campus Ministry

Campus Ministry springs from the premise that faith cannot be reduced to psychological or sociological processes. Faith is a verb...a capacity to live at more than a mundane level: to see, to feel, to act in terms of a transcendent dimension. At Lycoming College we affirm religious traditions as gifts which encourage the development of faith. In agreement with James Fowler we understand faith broadly as "the human struggle for identity, community and meaning," which is critical at the time when the late adolescent moves into adulthood. In the faith development process we respect that all people develop faith at different levels and times. Real faith is not a matter of age or style. We believe that faith is the pivotal point to a holistic approach to life.

Statement of Mission

The mission of Campus Ministry at Lycoming College is to lead the college in fostering a faith community whose members seek to live the Gospel in their daily lives. The United Methodist and Roman Catholic Churches provide an ecumenical ministry. Campus Ministry offers a message of hope, and forgiveness that is accomplished through service projects, community building, and social opportunities. Campus Ministry provides time and space for prayer and sacrament. It strives to empower students, faculty, and staff to rediscover their spiritual vocation through these opportunities.

Role of United Campus Ministry

- * Provide an ecumenical and interfaith ministry to all members of the college community, especially students.
- * Provide for the enrichment, formation, and spiritual growth of the college community.
- * Provide the pastoral duties for all members of the college community.
- * Develop and coordinate a plan for community service.
- * Advise religious groups on campus.
- * Act as a liaison between the College and the churches of the Williamsport area.
- * Work with the religion department to provide leadership and support for those interested in ministry.

Habitat for Humanity

Habitat for Humanity, a worldwide organization that seeks to eliminate poverty housing, has had one of its most successful and productive years in this, its fifteenth year, on campus. Fundraisers, including the Habitat 5 K fun run, lemonade and cappuccino sales at football games, as well as personal sponsors, helped to raise money for both the collegiate challenge spring break trip to Dada City, Florida, as well as funding for the completion of Habitat's first Collegiate build.

The chapter finished construction of its first home, on the corner of Baldwin and Eldred Street in Williamsport, on December 8, 2003. The family of five, including three young girls, was able to move into the home in time for Christmas, and the dedication was a tremendous accomplishment for everyone who helped to build the house.

This year, 30 students and advisors traveled to sunny Florida with the Spring Break Collegiate. Habitat worked on East Pasco's Habitat for Humanity Village as well as cleaning up the surrounding community.

This year's leadership team consisted of Jason Moran, Kim Hengst, Laura Charmick, Tracy Tertel, Kevin Socha, and Walter Makarucha. Marco Hunsberger advised the students. Members of Habitat for Humanity for the Fall 2003-Spring 2004 semesters included Katie Bell, Elizabeth Bennett, Jen Bonkowski, Margaret Bortner, Grant Brindle, Laura Charmick, Chelsea Clark, Michele Connors, Chris Dempsey, Mindy Dicken, Corinne Dochney, Christy Dockery, Brian Dowling, Mindy Dreisbach, Jen Eaton, Olivia English, Jennifer Fulton, Nichole Fultz, Michelle Griffiths, Lindsay Haschak, Kim Hayes, Kim Hengst, Shaun Higgins, Stephanie Janssen, Jillian Johnson, Becky Kampe, Jenna Kohler, Andy Lutzkanin, Jess Madonna, Walter Makarucha, Jason Malarchik, Amy Malkin, Harold Marks, Desiree McCollon, Jen Mease, Jason Moran, Dana Newbury, Jenna Perazzone, Erin Peters, Erin Peterson, Kelly Plotts, Argyro

The Student Senate of Lycoming College (SSLC) is the official student governing body of the College. SSLC is the final, legitimate, and representative voice of the students and is recognized by the administration as the official voice of students. Student grievances, needs, and desires should be taken to SSLC for effective communication with the administration. A major function of SSLC is the appointment of student representatives to campus committees that play important roles in Lycoming policy making. SSLC meetings are held weekly in the Wertz Conference Room. SSLC maintains an office on the third floor of the Wertz Student Center. President is Christine M. Colella. Advisor is Dr. Sue A. Saunders.

LEAF

Lycoming Environmental Awareness Foundation (LEAF) promotes environmental awareness on the Lycoming College campus through the use of educational programs, local field activities, and outdoor recreation. The president is Jamie N. Tribo, and the advisor is Dr. Melvin C. Zimmerman.

SAHD

Students Advocating Healthy Decisions (SAHD) is an organization that strives to empower students to make healthy decisions and to promote awareness of a variety of campus issues. We are active in sponsoring fun activities on and off campus. The advisors are Stephanie Fortin and Cody D. Ensadian.

SAHD at Lycoming College is headed by students and faculty, with the mission to serve students and faculty. SAHD's main goal is to promote healthy decisions. Many high schools have programs like Lycoming's, but a majority of them focus only on drinking. Here at Lyco, the focus is on a wide range of healthy decisions concerning drinking, smoking, and drug use to name a few. It also helps promote awareness about other issues such as rape, stress, and even sleep deprivation. SAHD does a lot of things, such as Coffeehouses, Mock tail tables, Rafting trips, driving go karts on the quad with beer goggles on, Respect Day tables in the Academic Center, Halloween parties, Safe-sex parties, massage sessions, and tons more.

"The very active presence of SAHD on campus is proof that there are students dedicated to living a happy and healthy life"

LEAP

Leadership Education Advancement Project (LEAP) is designed to bring freshmen students together to simulate the workings of a student organization while learning valuable lifelong leadership skills. Membership is by application. The program administrator is Susan Jewell.

LEAP is a one semester program offered by Lycoming College and the Office of Student Programs and Leadership Development. LEAP is designed to educate and prepare freshman/transfer students for positions of leadership. The program will offer students from a broad range of backgrounds an opportunity to further develop their leadership skills.

LEAP uses an experiential learning format in which interactive techniques are utilized to explore issues and topics specific to the development of the freshman/ transfer student and emerging leaders. Topics include leadership styles, working with diverse populations, critical thinking skill development, and interpersonal communication among others.

Activities scheduled both on and off campus are designed to enrich the student's learning experience by enabling them to interact in arenas in which they may not be accustomed. These activities expose students to a wide range of cultural, social, educational, recreational, and spiritual experiences.

ROTC

U.S. Army Reserve Officers Training Corps Program (R.O.T.C.) program provides an opportunity for Lycoming students to enroll in Army R.O.T.C. Lycoming notes enrollment in and successful completion of the program on student transcripts.

Military Science is a four-year program divided into a basic course given during the freshman and sophomore years and an advanced course given during the junior and senior years. Students who have not completed the basic course may qualify for the advanced course by completing the Leader's Training Course at Fort Knox, Kentucky between the sophomore and junior years.

One course each in written communication, computer proficiency, and military history will fulfill the professional military education requirements.

Students successfully completing the advanced course and The Leadership Development and Assessment Course between the junior and senior years will qualify for a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army upon graduation, and will incur a service obligation in the active Army, Army National Guard or the Army Reserves.

CAB

The Campus Activities Board (CAB) is in cooperation with the Office of Student Programs and Leadership Development. The Campus Activities Board plans and implements student activities such as concerts, comedians, dinner theaters, movies and musical performances. Membership in CAB is open to all Lycoming College students. All active members have voting privileges within the organization. The president is Jennifer A. Delp; the advisor is Susan Jewell.

Circle K

"Even though Circle K is an international organization you feel like you are a part of close family. From the members of your club to the members of your sponsoring Kiwanis club, and then all the way to the members of the districts club, you have the support of so many organizations that share a common goal, helping children. When we do service projects members can just see the joy on the kids faces and that is why we continue to do Circle K, it is because of the feeling you get when you know you are making some child's day a little bit better."

Lycoming College Democrats work to promote student participation and interest in local, state, and national politics. The club's primary background is the philosophy of the Democratic Party, but it encourages all students to learn more about leadership, volunteering, and voting. Members assist candidates, discuss issues, meet speakers, and work at convincing everyone on campus that participating in our community and government is important and fun. The president is Michele Connors; the advisor is Jane C. Keller.

College Republicans

Lycoming College Republicans is affiliated with the College Republicans of America, this organization works to further the ideals of the Republican Party while educating students about the political system. The president is Luis G. Hernandez; the advisor is Dr. Michael G. Roskin.

National Broadcasting Society

National Broadcasting Society, the NBS, is open to all students with an interest in the communications field, this society offers leadership, community service, and philanthropic opportunities dealing with all forms of communications. Students will gain experience in print media, public speaking, and electronic media by participating in different events planned to educate students about communications' careers and help with job searches. As a member of The National Broadcasting Society, students may also be eligible to be a member of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the communications honor society.

The president is Emily L. Hammer; the advisor is Dr. Steven C. Koehn.

The National Broadcasting Society and Alpha Epsilon Rho were formed on the campus of Stephens College in Missouri in 1943. It was originally called Alpha Epsilon Rho in honor of the Association for Education in Radio (AER) which the organization met in convention with in Columbus, Ohio for many years. The National Broadcasting Society has as its purpose to enhance the development of college and university students involved in broadcasting, cable, telecommunications and other electronic media. Alpha Epsilon Rho is the honor society within the National Broadcasting Society. Its membership is restricted to the "best of the best" found within the membership ranks of NBS.

Commuter Students

The Commuter Student Organization unifies and represents the commuter student population with student government. Identifies, publicizes, and fulfills the special needs of the commuter student. The president is Michael H. Todd.

It was formed to represent and bring together commuting students and others, to identify, publicize and fulfill the special needs of commuter students, and to build and support the bridge between commuter students and the Lycoming College Campus. It is a student-led organization, and as such, can specifically identify with the current needs of Lycoming College's commuter population.

Lyco2 Television

Lyco 2 is a student-run television club that works with the Communication Department to produce student productions shown on closed-circuit TV. The television station is equipped with an editing and production room, computer graphic components, and a recording studio with stationary and mobile units. The department has its own access channel on the campus cable system, Lyco 2. Students have produced talk shows, guest interviews, game shows, and even student-written mini sit-coms. The station manager is Mindy S. Culp; the advisor is Dr. Steven C. Koehn.

Advisor Dr. Steve Koehn helps Lycoming College student Allison Shok use the equipment while recording a show.

WRLC Radio

WRLC 91.7FM is Lycoming's campus radio station and is staffed by students interested in radio broadcasting. The station manager is Abigail W. Franks; the advisor is Dr. Steven C. Koehn. WRLC broadcasts from studios and offices in the Communications building on Lycoming College campus.

The station broadcasts 768 watts at 91.7MHz. The staff consists of student DJs during the week, and some from the community on weekends. The station can be heard within an approximate 15-mile radius, depending on conditions and terrain. WRLC is in operation during the fall and spring semesters, with limited operation during holiday and summer breaks. The broadcast day during the week begins at midnight and continues in two-hour shifts until 2 a.m.

Student disc jockeys run the WRLC radio station at Lycoming College.

During the off-hours, an installed satellite system broadcasts the World Radio Network, programming from around the world. On Saturdays during the fall, be sure to catch all of the Lycoming College Warriors football games on WRLC.

Throughout the summer, WRLC broadcasts the games for the Williamsport Crosscutters baseball team. WRLC is composed of student DJs from all academic backgrounds with a broad variety of interests. We pride ourselves on programming that is both unique and diverse. Student DJs play their favorite genres, which culminates in a good variety including Rock, Alternative, R&B, Punk, Country and more!

The Arrow

The yearbook is an organization that strives to provide an accurate and lively portrayal of campus activities, and to capture the memories of the campus for those who want to look back on their college life in the future.

This year we have a small staff with the exception of the help we are receiving from Communications 230, a desktop publishing class. We are very thankful for the enthusiasm of the students who are actively supporting us. Our advisor is Robin Van Auken, and the editor is Jennifer Wray. The rest of our staff includes: Kelyn Stump, Nhu Nguyen, Sara Crabtree, Tatyana Sokolova, Sarah Reich, Megan Tyrseck, Laura Holdredge, Jennifer Moran, Shelbie Gaughan, David Heemer, Janice Ogurcak and Katy Grzywinski. They have been helping to pull the yearbook together.

The desktop publishing class has been helping the yearbook thoroughly by bringing in any photos that they can find from activities throughout the year. By using a program called "PageMaker", the class formats the photographs and sets them into templates for yearbook usage. Their help has been greatly appreciated and we hope to work with this class in the future.

Mass Communications students are some of the members of the yearbook staff.

The Arrow is in its first year of being handled by the Communications department instead of Student Programs. We hope that our communication skills enhance the yearbook, bringing into it the high-tech world that we now live in. It is the goal of this year's staff to produce a sophisticated and well-rounded publication. We are always welcoming help from the college community, whether it is actually doing hands on work for the yearbook or providing us with information and pictures.

Lycourier

The Lycourier is the non-profit student newspaper of Lycoming College. The Lycourier is a bi-weekly award-winning college publication, which is a completely student-run operation. Each week the executive staff members meet to discuss story ideas as well as fund-raising and public relations events. The meetings are held at 9 p.m. every Thursday night in the Mass Communications Building. The Lycourier welcomes any student, regardless of major, who is willing to work hard and is interested in learning more about journalism. The current staff consists of 15 executive members and 35 general staff members for a total of 50 staff members.

"I've always loved taking photos, and so being a member of the Lycourier staff gives me a reason to continue doing that."

Lycourier
Summer Beretsky

Primarily, The Lycourier covers the top news stories of Lycoming College news, but also covers other areas of interest to students, such as Greeks, sports, entertainment and the arts and opinion. While the primary audience is the Lycoming College campus, The Lycourier also covers both local and national news stories and has a subscription base of nearly 200.

ACM

The Association for Computing Machinery chapter at Lycoming College is made up of students pursuing a degree in Computer Science. Each year, the ACM students help AMIS with Math Awareness Day, and the various parties held throughout the year. In addition to these commitments, a small group of the students compete in the regional ACM Computer Programming competition every fall. The competition is held yearly and allows regional schools to compete against each other and have their results compared with other schools from around the world. Although the group is small, we encourage new members to join and support our efforts to advance the skills and knowledge of our members.

AMIS

Each year the Association of Mathematically Interested Students hosts Math Awareness Day for 7th and 8th graders from ten local schools. The members of the club organize sessions and activities revolving around a mathematical theme. Also, the members sponsor Math Colloquia and hold the annual Welcome Back Party as well as the Christmas party. The members are involved with fundraisers and campus events. Every year is different and the members partake in various activities to encourage membership, promote mathematics, and establish lasting relationships among other members.

Black Student Org

"I like the friendship and unity that we have within the organization"

BSU
Secretary Terri Prater

Lycoming College's Black Student Union is back this year and the goal is still the same. The club is still out making a name for themselves in the community and on campus. These past two years have been very busy for the organization but it still makes time to have fun and hang out with each other.

Be sure to take a look through the website, www.lycoming.edu/orgs/bsu, to see some of the things the union has been up to this semester. In 2004, the Black Student Union and the Career Development Center sponsored a multicultural Career Fair at Penn State University. The Career Fair featured 80 employers looking to diversify their workforce.

Political Science

The Political Science Club of Lycoming College exists to promote political interest in the student body of Lycoming College, and to provide a forum for politically-minded students to discuss, learn about, practice, and debate politics. We also host political events. Membership is open to all Lycoming College students, regardless of major or minor, any political affiliation, etc.

Criminal Justice

The Criminal Justics Society is open to all majors, especially those with a future interest in Criminal Justice. The honor society is only open to those who chose to major or minor in Criminal Justice.

MAG

Members of MAG are International and American students interested in learning about and enjoying other cultures. The club is open to all Lycoming College students, faculty, and staff. All that is required is an open mind and lots of enthusiasm.

"There are not a lot of international students at Lyco but MAG allows you to get to know them all very well."

Philosophy Club

Members of the Lycoming College Philosophy Club share a private luncheon. The club offers the opportunity to discuss philosophical ideas in a respectful manner and enjoyable environment. The advisor is Dr. Stephen R. Griffith.

Psychology Club

Psychology Club is an academic organization whose purpose is to enhance educational experiences through activities outside the classroom in the field of psychology, as well as to interact with other students interested in psychology. It is dedicated to offering students the opportunity to learn more about the vast field of psychology through a variety of activities. The club welcomes any and all Psychology majors, minors, or anyone interested in the field to be a part of this year's Psychology Club.

The Psychology Club celebrates the birthday of Sigmund Freud. At left, Freud enters the room, then blows out birthday candles. Above, he sits in on a lecture.

Sociology/Anthropology Society

The Sociology/Anthropology Society creates opportunities for students to explore all aspects of sociology and anthropology through guest lectures, career guidance, postgraduate information, and social activities. The president is Amber C. Day; the advisor is Dr. Betty L. McCall.

Creative Arts

Creative Arts Society (CAS) serves as a social organization for students having an interest in creative arts (audio, visual, and performance). CAS sponsors trips to museums and performances. Membership is open to all students regardless of major/minor. The advisor is Roger D. Shipley .

English Society

The English Society enriches Lycoming College's humanities program, encourages interest in literature and in creative and professional writing, and supports students considering careers related to these interests. The advisor is Dr. Darby Lewes.

"We do a lot of fun things, like going to medieval time dinner, Renaissance fair or poetry reading where we read poems and short fictions."

Club Franco

Club Franco provides a forum in the French language for all students and faculty. We are an academic organization that offers activities to promote the French language and Francophone culture. The president is Jesse A. Pach; the advisor is Amy L. Cartal-Falk.

Concert Choir

The College Choir is the largest of three choral groups at Lycoming. It is the college's "full choir" and numbers over 100 students. It is open to students from all academic fields. Auditions, to determine voice parts only, are held each September. The Choir is open to every student who loves to sing.

Tour Choir

The Tour Choir is an ensemble of about 40 students who are selected by audition each November. The Tour Choir begins rehearsals in January, and its annual tour schedule includes two week-end tours and a 10-day concert tour over spring break. The Tour Choir also performs a "Homecoming Concert" at Lycoming College after its spring break tour, as well as appears during the Graduation Concert. Every three or four years, the Tour Choir conducts a two-week tour abroad in addition to its yearly activities. Members are chosen for their abilities to be cooperative and dedicated as much as for their musical talent. Since the Lycoming Choir's inception in 1947, the choir has toured in many parts of the United States during its annual "spring break" tour. Some of these locations include Florida, Georgia, and North and South Carolina. They have also flown to California twice. The choir's current schedule includes performances in Pennsylvania and a 10-day concert tour of Florida, including a stop at the famed Coral Ridge Ministries.

Chamber Choir

The Chamber Choir is comprised of about 25 students who are chosen by audition from the larger College Choir. Members of the Chamber Choir are selected primarily for their vocal abilities, and each is a recipient of a Choral Fellowship, receiving an annually renewable $500 tuition remission. Like the other choirs, the Chamber Choir is comprised of students from all academic fields and majors. Often the most flexible of the Lycoming choirs because of its size, the Chamber Choir has had the opportunity to participate in many special performances over the past few years. In fall 1996, they sang backup for Barry Manilow during his concert in Williamsport; at Christmas 1996 and 1999, they performed at the White House. They have also performed joint concerts with the Chieftains and the Gregg Smith Singers. The Chamber Choir is often asked to perform for special Lycoming dinners and functions as well.

Concert Band

The instrumental music program serves many functions and provides a vehicle through which qualified and talented students can express themselves musically, while sharpening their skills as amateurs or professionals. The program also provides a social community for students from across the College with common interests.

An ensemble of approximately 66 members, the Concert Band is comprised of woodwind, brass, and percussion players who perform wind band literature. The band performs five times annually on campus. In addition, the ensemble tours at the end of the spring semester. Membership is open to all campus students by audition.

Jazz Band

In the fall of 2002, the Lycoming College Jazz Ensemble was formed. This group is selected from the membership of the Concert Band and rehearses once a week during the regular semester. They have performed at many functions on and off campus, providing the students with a unique opportunity to perform.

Alpha Rho Omega

Alpha Rho is a local sisterhood. It was founded on April 1, 1981 by some former little sisters of the no longer recognized fraternity of Alpha Sigma Phi. With just twelve founding members Alpha Rho has grown to have a membership role of over 310 sisters over the past twenty three years. The sisterhood was founded on the principles of unity, loyalty, individuality, and respect because without these there can be no lasting bond. They strive to maintain these values while enhancing scholarship within the sisterhood as well as service throughout the community. The flower is the American Beauty Rose and the motto is "Hang the trifle, woman. Take thee honor!" by William Shakespeare.

New Sorority Making a Mark

Alpha Xi Delta began their colonization at the start of the week of April 4, 2004. More than 80 women were interviewed by three of AXiD's national representatives that week. After giving out bids, 37 members of the Lycoming College community have begun the new member process for Alpha Xi Delta. Janice Ogurcak will pledge with the women as their adviser. Karissa Brown is president.

"We are very excited as many of the Greek houses, both male and female, have approached us with ideas for events to co-sponsor, and we are also participating in Greek Week on campus," Brown said.

"Planning for the nightly events has been quite a challenge as we have house meetings/new member orientation at least three times a week as well as other time-consuming assignments (establishing our own by-laws, merit system, philanthropy, budget, etc.) and of course the end-of-the-semester work load."

The mission of Alpha Xi Delta Fraternity is to enrich the life of every Alpha Xi Delta. Alpha Xi Delta was founded in 1893 by ten young women at Lombard College in Galesburg, Illinois, who shared a vision and a dream of a national organization dedicated to the personal growth of women.

One of the oldest women's fraternities, Alpha Xi Delta is proud of its rich history. As one of the ten founding fraternities of the National Panhellenic Conference, it was Alpha Xi Delta's first NPC Chairman who wrote the Panhellenic Creed, which is still recited on college campuses today.

Since that time more than a 100 years ago, the spirit of Alpha Xi Delta has enriched the lives of thousands of women throughout the world with its emphasis on lifelong learning and lasting friendship. Now a national fraternity with more than 120,000 initiated members, Alpha Xi Delta has grown into a progressive and forward-thinking organization with college chapters and alumnae associations throughout the United States. The ideals envisioned by our Founders are timeless and have remained constant throughout the years, inspiring pride in each member to pursue individual excellence.

Pre-Health Society

The Pre-Health Society is dedicated to provide post-graduate information and materials for health care careers and sponsors lectures and social service programs pertaining to all areas of the health care industry. Membership includes approximately 50 current students considering Allopathic and Osteopathic Medicine, as well as Dentistry, Podiatry, Optometry, Physical Therapy, Veterinary, Pharmacy and Clinical Psychology. The advisor is Dr. Edward G. Gabriel.

Gamma Sigma Epsilon

Gamma Sigma Epsilon honors students for scholastic achievement in chemistry. The adviser is Dr. Charles H. Mahler.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi is an Education Honor Society that functions as a professional and honor society for students interested in the field of education. Advisor: Dr. G. Kathleen Chamberlain. Students may be elected to the honor society after being enrolled in at least 4 education-related courses. New members must have an overall GPA of 3.25. Our members are juniors and seniors on campus.

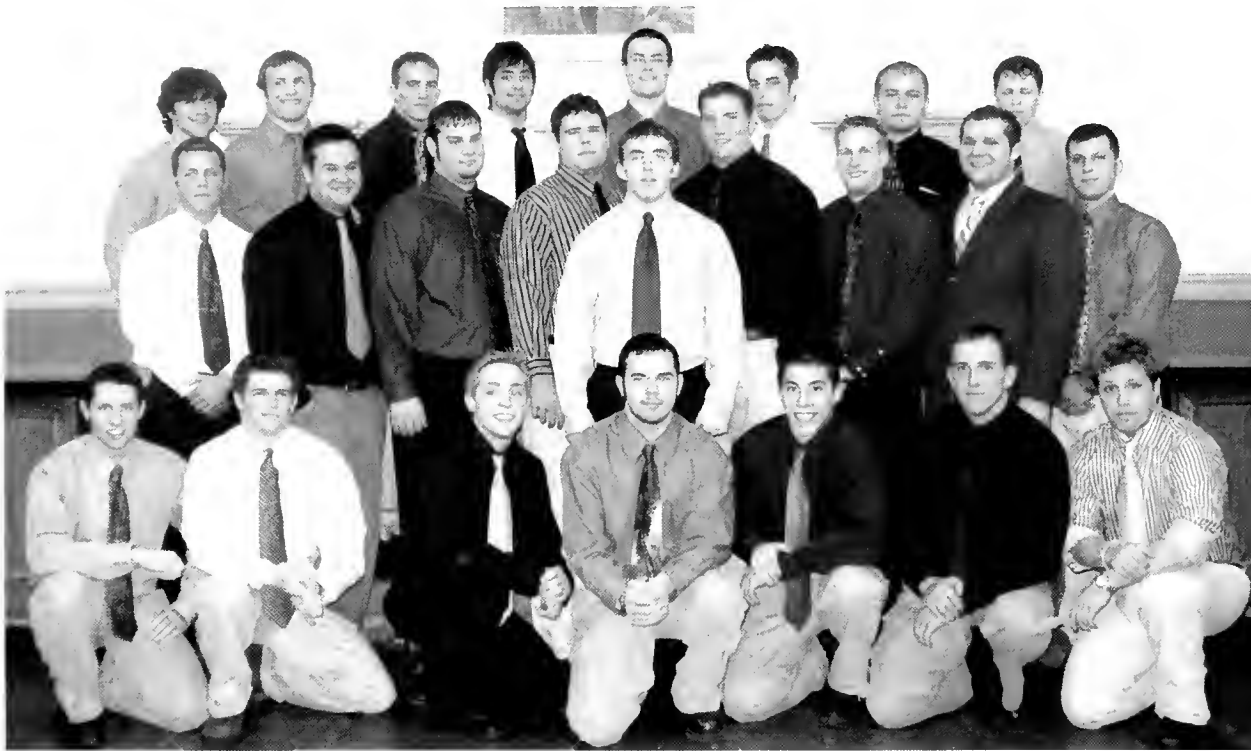

Omicron Delta Epsilon

Omicron Delta Epsilon is an economics honor society that confers distinction for high scholastic achievements in economics by stimulating and promoting student interest in all aspects of economics. Members must be economics majors/minors who have junior status, completed twelve hours of economics, and maintained a B average. The advisor is Dr. Mehrdad Madresee.

Omicron Delta Epsilon, one of the world's largest academic honor societies, was created through the merger of two honor societies, Omicron Delta Gamma and Omicron Chi Epsilon. Omicron Delta Gamma was founded in 1915 by John Commons, University of Wisconsin and Frank Taussig, Harvard University.

Lycoming College members are Adam Allen, Amy Dowling, Bernardo Urdaneta, Brian Driscoll, Edward Hunter, Jason Hollick, Jeffrey Harris, Jeremy Haloskie, Julie Strouse, Kimberlee Frerichs, Kristin Mennona, Miguel Llano, Morgan Barr, Nathan Boxx, Shaun Matthews, Timothy Sullivan, Tracy Peterson, Valerie Troutman, William Ray, Kristin Campbell, Natalie Kittell, Tomislav Cutura, Charissa Nayduch, Ryan Watt, Jeremy Raichle, Brianne McManus, Jesse Albeck and Justin Follmer.

On March 7th 2002, following months of hard work and preparation, the members of Pennsylvania Phi were officially recognized as a colony of Phi Kappa Psi at Lycoming College. For a little over a year, the 21 members of its "Fraternal Interest Group" worked to have a place in the college and Greek community. After several months of meetings with the Greek Advisory Board, in the fall of 2001, the college agreed to consider the PKP for colonization by a national fraternity. For one week in November, its Interest Group heard presentations from five national fraternities of their choice, which included Phi Kappa Psi. The following week their decision was made, Phi Kappa Psi was chosen almost unanimously. From that week on, its members worked closely with Phi Psi, ensuring that their group would be prepared to accept the honor and responsibility of becoming a colony of Phi Kappa Psi. Since the date of our colonization, Penn Phi has continued setting the groundwork that will allow its colony to grow. One of its goals as a colony was to be exceedingly service oriented, which they found in Phi Psi, and they wasted no time doing so. From the beginning of second semester, until graduation in May, Penn Phi amassed 500 hours of community service with such programs as Habitat for Humanity, AIDS Resource, and an Animal Menagerie for wild and endangered animals. During our first full semester as a colony, Penn Phi was actively involved in community service, student activities as well as intramural sports.

Lycoming Mourns

Our fallen Warrior:

Ricky Lannetti
June 22, 1982- December 6, 2004

Lycoming Community Gathers In Prayer for Ricky Lannetti

By Bill Byham

Clark Chapel on the Lycoming College campus was the scene Dec. 9 of a prayer service in memory of senior Ricky Lannetti who passed away suddenly Dec. 6, 2003. Chaplain Marco Hunsberger, Sister Catherine of the campus ministry and Dr. James Douthat, college president, were the celebrants of the service conducted before a chapel completely filled with students, faculty, teammates and friends of the 21-year old Philadelphian who died of a blood infection as he and his team were preparing for a NCAA Division 3 playoff game versus Bridgewater, Va.

Lannetti was a wide receiver and kick return specialist for the Warrior football team. In his two year starting career, Lannetti caught 100 passes for 1,423 yards and 8 touchdowns. He returned 135 kicks for 1,759 yards and 2 touchdowns. In all purpose yardage, Lannetti recorded 3,194 yards which allowed him to be voted first team All Middle Atlantic Conference as a wide receiver and second team as an All MAC kick returner.

"Think of the Lannetti family as they gather in Philadelphia this evening. Think of the time, the season in which they must face this tragedy, the loss of a son," said

Chaplain Hunsberger. "We, the Lycoming Community, are grieving to be sure but place your prayers on Ricky and his family."

Dr. Douthat spoke of Ricky when he said, "There are so many of you here who knew Ricky as a friend, a classmate, a teammate while others here tonight knew him as a football player. We cheered for him, he was exciting, a star and a strong competitor but tonight it can be said Ricky was loved. Just by being here you have shown your love for him. He was called the heart of the team but now that heart has been broken."

Sister Catherine spoke of Lannetti in high praise. She even quipped that he was probably already seeking a game of "tag football," where he is now. As a final way of closing, she sent ushers through those congregated with pencils and paper. Each person was asked to write a thought to the Lannetti family. "They will need time to bury their son and to grieve but later, when they have time, they will sit down and read these messages and see how much Ricky was in our hearts."

The service included hymn singing and also a candle lighting as everyone lit a candle and spent the next few minutes in silent prayer for Lannetti and all others in the minds of the people in attendance. Sister Catherine then prayed for the football team while also thanking them for playing ball. "It was a Ricky Lannetti call, play ball, and you fellows chose to cut away from your grieving to do just that. You played ball."

In Our Memories...

Dr. Paul A. Mackenzie

Dr. Paul MacKenzie, a devoted faculty member at Lycoming College for 33 years, passed away on September 12, 2003, after losing a hard battle to cancer. Dr. Mackenzie, a German instructor, served as chairman of the Foreign Languages Department for many years, wrote a number of scholarly books and articles, and enjoyed performing in the theatre.

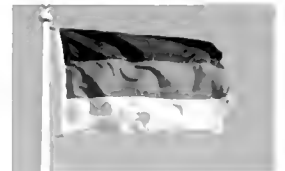

A member of the First United Methodist Church, he sang in their choir and served on their nursery school board. He was also a member of the A.A.T.G. He enjoyed playing the bagpipes, gardening, traveling, Celtic and classical music, literature and art.

A candle loses nothing by lighting another candle.

—Erin Majors

Dr. MacKenzie was born in Quincy, Massachusetts and graduated from Boston University. He leaves behind a wife, Christine, two daughters, Kate and Annah, and a son Matt, who is a Lycoming graduate.

The family suggests memorial contributions in his name to:

Faculty and Staff Opener

Lycoming's professors, administration and the staff are intertwined in the lives of the students everyday. Whether it's teaching in class, helping students with their financial or personal needs, or ensuring that the campus is in good shape and a pleasant place to live and learn, the faculty and staff are as much of the college experience as the sports students play, the friends they make, or the parties they attend.

Ariana + Herbie...

These four years have had some GREAT times filled with happy memories you'll never forget! You have always had your share of challenges and disappointments. We have always been impressed by how you've worked and dealt with each new challenge, especially when your wrestling dream came to a sudden halt. You are a winner ... not because you never lose, but because you are always willing to keep on trying. So keep reaching for your dreams and know just how very proud we are to have you as our son!

2004 Lycoming Chieftain Eugene Robert Melvin

This year's Chieftain award went to Eugene Robert Melvin, who has worked hard throughout his years at Lycoming College.

Melvin said, "It was really great to see many Lycoming students win so many special awards. All portrayed the excellence of our student body in academics as well as extra-body in academics as well as extra-curricular activities. I am very honored to have won the Chieftain award and can only hope to live up to the level that this award portrays. There were so many other people who could have won the award, and I consider myself to be very lucky to have received such a great honor."

Shown by Melvin, the Chieftain is to be very caring and compassionate for his schoolmates. Some other qualities that Melvin holds are supporting school activities, being an outstanding leader, and the ability to effectively work with other members of the College community.

ARROW

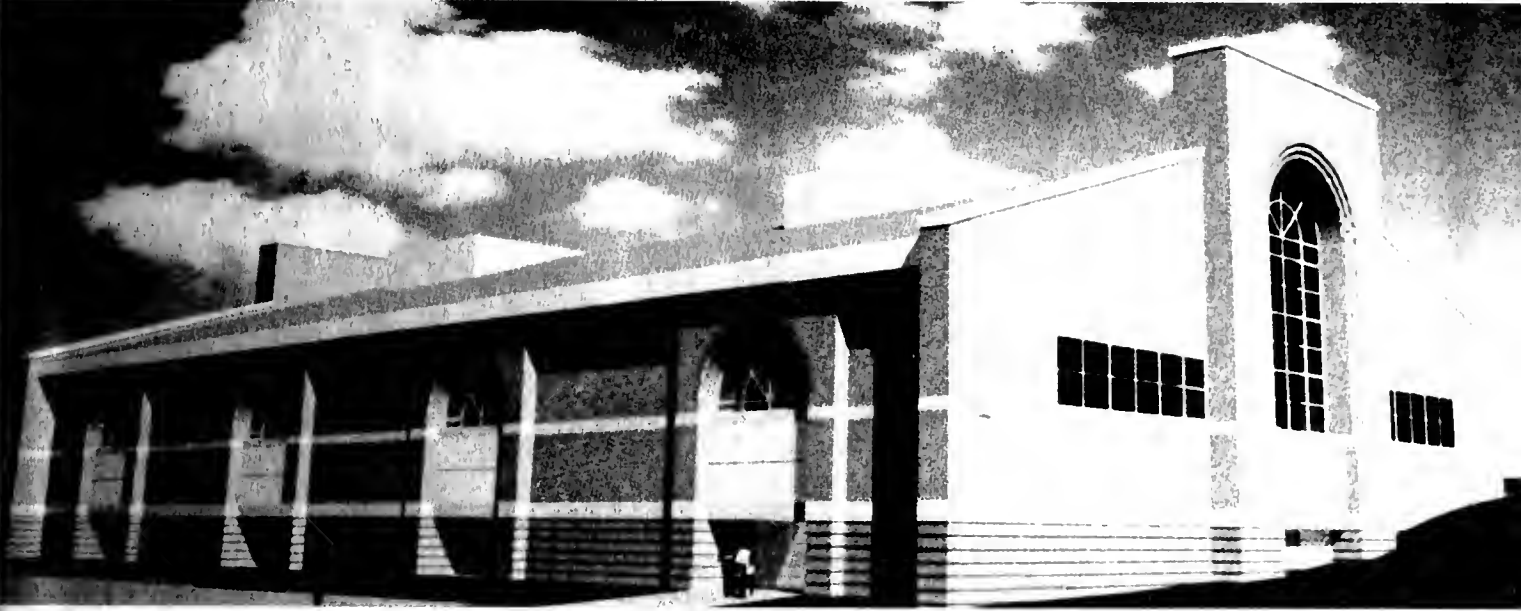

Two Thousand Four

There were 300 copies of the 2004 Arrow Yearbook printed and sold at $50 each. The theme, "Brick by Brick," was developed by the yearbook staff in reflection of the new buildings and various other changes happening on campus. The editors for the 2004 yearbook were Jennifer Wray and Robin VanAuken. Assisting them in the transition of the yearbook from one department to another were Donna Weaver, Susan Jewell and Jerry Falco. Throughout the year the editors were helped by Kelyn Stump, Nhu Nguyen, Sara Crabtree, Tatyana Sokolova, Sarah Reich, Faye Thompson and Katy Grzywinski, along with the Comm. 340: Desktop Publishing Class. Herff Jones Yearbooks in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, published the yearbook. The yearbook representative and general assistant to Lycoming College was Dave Brown. The 176 pages, 8 in color, were printed on 80 pound Bordeaux paper. Davor Photographic Inc. provided photo supplies and film development from Bensalem, Pennsylvania. Davor staff photographers took the senior portraits. Student photographers, student organizations, faculty and administrative staff submitted other photographs and copy. The yearbook staff created the 2004 yearbook using Adobe Pagemaker 7.0. "Friends and Family" and business advertisements were solicited to offset the cost of the yearbook. Lycoming College and the Student Senate financially support the production of the yearbook. A special thank you goes to Donna Weaver and Susan Jewell for their valuable information and assistance in the yearbook's transition and also to Robb Dietrich, Sports Information Director, for his assistance with photos and copy for varsity athletics.
